

City Designating Committee meeting, that I will accept the designation of the Democratic party for Mayor if it comes to me.

DISTRICT LEADERS TURNED DOWN GAYNOR.

The Tammany candidate was called to a conference of party leaders at Delmonico's late last night and tendered the nomination for Mayor after Mayor Gaynor had been definitely turned down by the district leaders and Justice Dowling had declined to permit his name to be used.

Mr. McCall told "Boss" Murphy that he did not want to be Mayor. "My whole inclination," he said, "is toward a judicial life. If you are going to select me for any office I would rather have a place on the Court of Appeals than go to the City Hall."

Tammany pressed the Mayorship upon him and he agreed to go home and think it over. This morning at 10 o'clock he left his home, No. 321 West Fifty-sixth street, and went to his office in the Public Service Commission. There he was visited by a number of friends and had telephone conversations with others. As a result he decided to take the offer.

FOLEY FIGHTS FOR M'CALL.

For the past week "Big Tom" has been denouncing Mayor Gaynor and lauding McCall. He has ridiculed the idea that Gaynor has any considerable Democratic following or that if the Mayor ran on an independent ticket it would hurt Tammany.

"The fellows that boom Gaynor most don't live in New York," said Foley. "He is strongest in Jersey and Connecticut, not right here in little old New York. We want a man of our own kind. We want a strong, able, broad-minded candidate, a leader among men, not a man of the type now in the City Hall."

"Big Tom" went about the east side beating the tom-toms and rousing the old-time Tammany spirit of revolt against surrendering to "the half-breeds, the highbrows and theoretical dabblers in politics." A good straight Tammany man for Tammany was his cry. He found support in other districts of Manhattan, and then came to his side the solid strength of Brooklyn.

One thing the council of war at Delmonico's impressed upon Leader Murphy was that Tammany must cast off Gaynor, no matter whether he runs or not on a third ticket. This having been settled, the next question was who to make the candidate. Justice Dowling having definitely refused to allow his name to be considered, there was unanimous turning to McCall.

"Big Tom" Foley has succeeded to the power and influence of "Big Tim" Sullivan and his importance in Tammany is now a considerable factor. For the last ten days he has been a daily caller on Mr. McCall, urging on him the duty of becoming a candidate for Mayor. On the streets Foley has talked to every acquaintance of the advantages of having McCall as the nominee.

"He is the kind of a man to be our standard bearer," said Foley. "He is just the one to be our gladiator and fight our battle in the political arena."

These two phrases have been Foley's daily slogans and he used them with all the vigor he possesses at the Delmonico conference.

Bright and early this morning Foley was in his political headquarters at No. 114 Centre street, opposite the Criminal Court Building. With him was his lieutenant, Congressman "Dan" Riederer. A line of callers, a number of them women, seeking small favors, as though they were a public bureau of charity and relief, passed in and out.

"I am glad Mr. McCall has accepted," he said. "He is the man to sweep the town. He is big, broad-minded, strong, able, forceful, conservative and just the opposite to the youth, callow enthusiasm and mental vagaries of the Fabian candidate, Mitchell. McCall is a real standard bearer—one of whom every Tammany man and every Democrat in New York can stand up for and work for and vote for."

Judge McCall was asked if he would resign as chairman of the Public Service Commission in order to make his campaign for Mayor, if nominated at the Democratic primary on Sept. 14.

"No," he answered. "I wish to say to that one of the great deterrents that caused me to hesitate before accepting the designation, if it comes to me, is the uncertainty as to who will succeed me in the event of my election as Mayor. I am showing upon knowing that my successor shall be a man of character, standing and sane ideas."

"Have you any information as to whether or not Mayor Gaynor will run independently?"

"I do not know and I will not speculate," the Chairman answered.

When Mayor Gaynor reached the City Hall to-day he was asked if he would have anything to say on the Mayorship situation. The Mayor turned about sharply, brushed his inquisitors aside.

"I may have something to say in a very short time," he said.

Schultz doesn't want to preside over Aldermen. George M. S. Schultz of the Bronx, Tammany selection for President of the Board of Aldermen, does not want the place. He has notified Mr. Murphy and other leaders that he prefers not to accept, although he has not yet definitely decided.

Mr. Schultz said that while he might take a place on the Bronx County ticket he does not wish to preside over the board of Aldermen.

In case of his withdrawal Congressman Goulden will be considered.

TAMMANY FORCES TO BEAT.

Tammany forces to beat, because he can hope to get only the strict organization vote.

"See what a spectacle is presented in this selection. Gaynor unquestionably is very popular with the public. He certainly would have been nominated if he had done everything that Tammany wanted him to do. While he has been eloquent in some things, yet he has turned down the organization in others. Therefore he became unpopular with the leaders."

"Tammany has derided and turned down Gov. Sulzer because he would not obey orders. Now they discard Mayor Gaynor because he was only partly subservient. The Fusion cause has every reason to feel confident of success, now that McCall has been selected, and the issue has been so deeply defined."

"Some Fusion leaders puzzled over the situation. There is perplexity among other Fusion leaders whether Mayor Gaynor as a third Mayorship candidate on an independent ticket will help or harm the candidacy of John Purroy Mitchell. Some of them fear that the Mayor would draw to himself many anti-Tammany voters who are lukewarm toward Mitchell. If there were only two tickets in the field these voters would have to go to Mitchell, but with the Mayor running an opportunity will be afforded for municipal 'mugwumps' to have a candidate of their own."

McCall is assured of all the organization Tammany vote in Manhattan and the Bronx and of the regular Democratic vote in Kings and Queens. While not able to draw so many independent supporters as Gaynor, he may not suffer from defection in his own organization ranks.

On the other hand, the Tammany ranks are not so solidly arrayed as in former years, and a good many members have wandered away into independence. In both Tammany Hall and Fusion headquarters the perplexing question of the day is this:

"If Gaynor runs independently from which side will he draw the mass votes?"

Tammany thinks that with the selection of McCall the danger of Gov. Sulzer coming into the municipal campaign is sidetracked. McCall is an appointee of the Governor and the two men have maintained friendly relations during the months of acrimonious party strife.

A photograph of Gov. Sulzer with an authorized inscription hung across it hangs over Mr. McCall's chair in his office.

Fusion Candidate Mitchell declined to make any comments on the McCall selection. Chairman Koenig of the Republican County Committee was silent.

Tammany is expected to endorse District Attorney Whitman and thus try to take the police issue out of the campaign.

McCall explains plans if he's elected Mayor. These are the views and aims of Edward E. McCall, who will be designated for Mayor by Tammany, as expressed to-day by The Evening World.

"It is interesting for me to discuss policies because I am not yet a nominated candidate for Mayor. The designating committee must pass on me to-morrow, and even then will only recommend me to the voters at next month's primaries. A considerable period must elapse before I am formally placed on the ticket as a candidate, and many things may happen in the meantime."

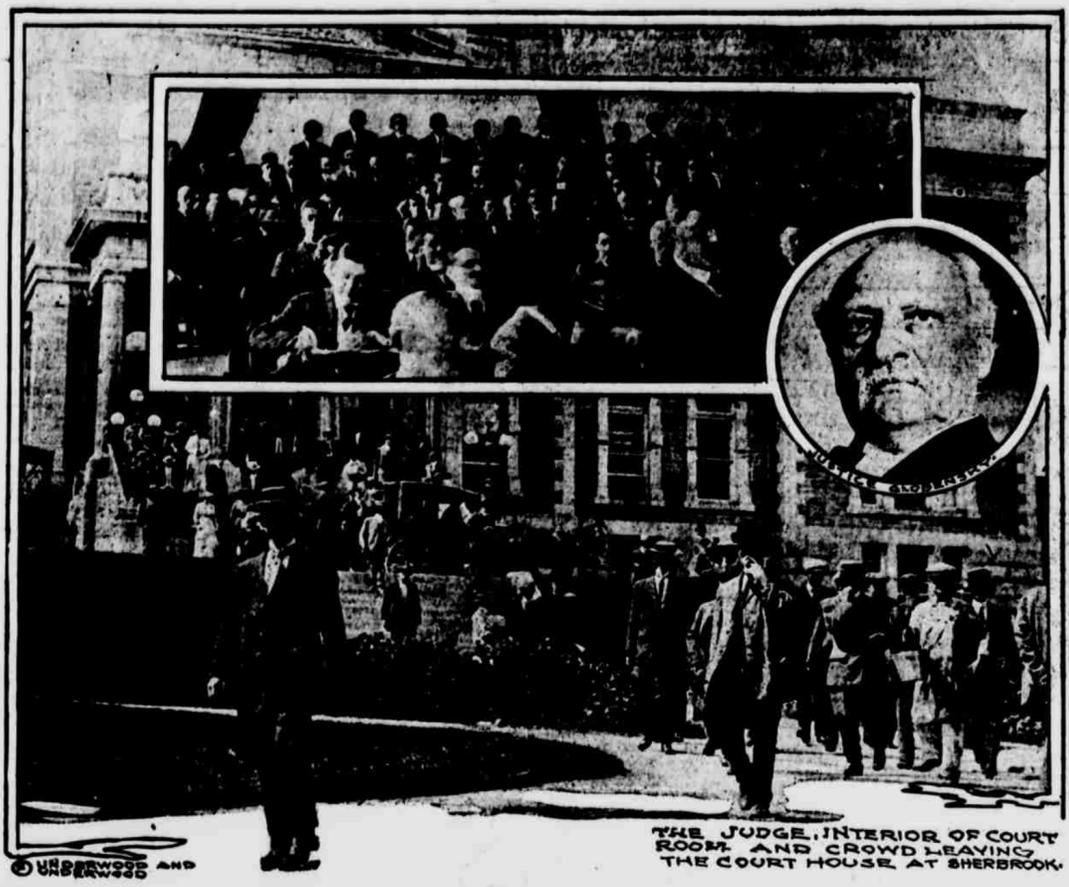

"Personally, I would prefer not to be a candidate for Mayor. I am hopeful even now that some combination of circumstances may be brought whereby I shall not be named. My inclinations and ambitions all lead in other directions."

"But I find myself confronted by a demand made upon my good citizenship and I feel that I must sacrifice my own inclinations to the paramount public service."

Views of Court Where Thaw Case Is Under Way, His Judge and Crowd of Disappointed Sightseers

THE JUDGE, INTERIOR OF COURT ROOM AND CROWD LEAVING THE COURT HOUSE AT SHERBROOK.

THAW SANE IS OFFICIAL REPORT OF CANADIAN ALIENIST

Ottawa early to-day that W. L. Shurtliff, of counsel for Thaw, had failed in his mission, which was to gain permission from the Minister of the Interior for Thaw to select his place of deportation.

A few minutes later, though Thaw's attorneys had the trial of "Educated Roger" Thompson set over until next Friday, Thompson is the man who drove Thaw away from Matteawan in the big touring car. He is charged with having aided an insane alien to enter Canada. Because of this, Thaw's interests are closely allied with those of Thompson and the former's lawyers were anxious to delay his hearing until after the return of the writ on which Thaw will be produced for a hearing next Wednesday.

The little court room, smaller than a Magistrate's court in New York, was crowded to the doors. In the streets about the court house were crowds of curious men, women and children anxious for a glimpse of Thompson since they could not catch sight of Thaw.

Thompson is a slender young man of medium height. He wore smoked glasses to shield his eyes and seemed perfectly at ease, in fact, interested in his unusual surroundings. Louis St. Laurent, a Quebec lawyer, was on hand to defend him, and Firmin Campbell appeared for the immigration authorities, who are pressing the charge against Thompson.

THAW'S LAWYERS WIN DELAY THROUGH THOMPSON CASE. By Mr. St. Laurent's side sat Mr. Shurtliff, Charles D. White, J. N. Greenshield and Col. Harry Frazer, of counsel for Thaw. Throughout the proceedings they advised with the Quebec lawyer.

Reside Mr. Campbell were District Attorney E. A. Conger of Dutchess County, Deputy Attorney-General Franklin Kennedy of Albany and Samuel W. Jacobs of Montreal, special counsel to the New York representatives.

Mr. Campbell immediately asked for an adjournment on the ground that the necessary papers in the case had not come from Albany. Mr. St. Laurent demanded that Mr. Campbell be made to tell the contents of these papers, which are the records of Thaw's commitment, that the Magistrate might decide their relevancy. This Magistrate Mulvena declined to do and Mr. St. Laurent was about to object to the adjournment, declaring that he was ready to go on, when one of Thaw's lawyers plucked his sleeve.

Adjournment was just what they wanted, and after a minute's consultation Mr. St. Laurent said he not only would consent to the adjournment, but he advised the Court that he might have to ask for a further delay when, on next Friday, he saw the papers. Magistrate Mulvena granted the delay and Thaw's lawyers left the court room jubilant.

CROWD HAILS THOMPSON AS A HERO. Thompson, escorted by Gov. Laforce of the jail and Bailiff Bailey, was conveyed to and from the jail in an open carriage. A crowd gathered at the old jail, and Thaw, peering down from a grated window on the second floor, watched interestedly as Thompson was driven off. The crowd followed all the way to the court house, shouting exclamations in French.

Word was received here from Ottawa early to-day that the mission of A. L. Shurtliff, of counsel for Thaw, had failed and that Thaw would not be allowed to select his destination in the event of his deportation.

Mr. Shurtliff arrived soon after this report. He would not admit he had failed, but let it be understood that the habeas corpus proceedings might be dropped. Thaw's plans were completely altered by his report, and his lawyers immediately went into consultation. They had counted on the success of Mr. Shurtliff.

Thaw Beyond Interference By U. S., Bryan Decides

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Secretary of State Bryan said to-day that he cannot, under existing treaties, compel the deportation of Harry K. Thaw under the immigration laws, as requested by both of New York "Governors," Sulzer and Glynn. The former's telegram requesting the deportation was received to-day.

Secretary Bryan to-day sent the following telegram to "Hon. William Sulzer, Albany, N. Y.":

This case of Thaw being one of which in its present aspect as involving the application of Canadian immigration laws this Government cannot act officially, steps have been taken to lay the information as to his escape informally before the Canadian authorities. The question, Secretary Wilson of the Immigration Bureau to-day sent this despatch to Acting Gov. Glynn and Attorney-General Cargody: I am unable to find any law which would authorize the Department of telephone displayed keen interest and occasionally a burst of acerbic dissent or criticism made the reader's job far from monotonous.

Mrs. Thaw was very much interested in a telegram detailing Dr. Britton D. Evans' activity in behalf of Thaw. She caught the words "Thaw's millions" and instantly checked the reading.

Secord tinged over the wire in the repeated words, "Thaw's millions" SINCE HARRY'S COMMITMENT. "Why, one might imagine we were Vanderbilt or Astors! Why, Mr. Thaw, when he died, left an estate of $10,000,000 to be divided among his ten children, myself and a number of benevolence. It's positively ridiculous. Thaw's millions! And some of them have been after Thaw's millions ever since they put him in Matteawan."

Once more a statement made by Dr. Evans stirred Mrs. Thaw.

"Yes," she exclaimed, "Dr. Evans is just right. If Harry had been a poor man they would have let him go right after his first trial. But he was a member of a wealthy family and had money. That's just it. He's been punished because of his wealth, which some have imagined to be much more than it is."

MOTHER DECLARES. A few moments later Mrs. Thaw again interrupted: "Let me tell you and all the correspondents at Sherbrooke and in New York and everywhere that Roger O'Mara is not Harry's guardian. The Green men do not have guardians. Mr. O'Mara is Harry's trustee in bankruptcy, that's all."

Mrs. Thaw in the remark showed her idea of her son's standing before the law in Pennsylvania and incidentally indicated that she never had even raised in her own mind a question as to his sanity. In her opinion of the law Thaw is sane in his home state, although insane in New York. A trustee in bankruptcy, moreover, is appointed under a Federal law, so that in this much Thaw's sanity is accepted.

Mrs. Thaw apparently does not intend to leave Sherbrooke for some time.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR WILL TAKE NO ACTION TO BRING THAW BACK.

DUBLIN, N. H., Aug. 22.—Secretary of State Bryan's personal telegram notifying the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, that Harry K. Thaw was held in Canada and the subject of probable deportation proceedings had not been received at the summer embassy here to-day.

"If I find that it is a matter requiring the official attention of the Canadian authorities I shall simply forward the message of the Secretary of State to Ottawa," said the Ambassador.

"Extradition of prisoners is not a matter for the diplomatic department. All those things are arranged by treaty and I should have no authority to make overtures to the Canadian officials."

"The usual course to be pursued in such matters would be for the Washington officials to communicate with the consul at Sherbrooke, Que., or call the matter directly to the attention of London.

Message of the State Department forwarded from Washington last night explained the status of Thaw in New York State and his present predicament, adding: "The department, while not in a position to make a request in the matter, which in its present aspect is not within our extradition treaties, brings it to your notice with a view to such action as the Canadian authorities may find themselves justified in taking."

WILL LAY CORNERSTONE OF WELFARE BUILDING.

The cornerstone of a building that will be used exclusively for welfare work among the 1,800 employees of the American Bank Note Company's plant at Hunt's Point, the Bronx, will be laid to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. The building will adjoin the plant and is said to be the first of its kind to be erected in greater New York.

The building will contain two large dining rooms, one for the women and another for the men, with a seating capacity sufficient to accommodate 1,800 persons at one time, a large assembly hall, smoking and reading rooms, a library and other features.

BROKER HELD IN $2,000.

E. E. Pugh, a broker, with offices at Nos. 75-80 Broadway street, was held on a warrant charging grand larceny by Magistrate Barlow in the Tombs court this afternoon after he had answered to a summons procured by Louis S. Nogue, the complaining witness against him.

Nogue, who said he was a cook and that he lived at No. 51 Third avenue, declared that in March he bought stock valued at $2,350 from Pugh & Co. but that he was unable to pay for the entire stock, and did so only after securing a loan from Pugh with the loan was $1,470.

Nogue said that when he went to Pugh a week ago to pay the amount of the loan, with interest, Pugh refused to deliver the stock he held as security. Barlow held the broker in $2,000 bail.

GOVERNOR BARRICADES JAIL IN FEAR OF GUNMEN.

The continued presence of Thaw is getting on the nerves of the officials. Gov. Laforce in charge of the County Jail, an ex-convict French Canadian, is in a panic. He is so unstrung that he has come to believe Dr. Britton D. Evans was not the famous alienist at all, but a New York gunman, and as a result he has barricaded himself in his jail and forbidden any visitor to get to Thaw. He is apparently convinced some one will try to rescue the prisoner. His panic is amusing to all except himself. He is really almost ill with anxiety.
